

MISSIONARY NOTICE.
June 15, A.D. 1896.
The Evangelical Free Church, and the Friends of the Poor,
for said County, Contraluted, whose cause has the entire of the said sum.
May have been allowed to the last and prove their claims and it is believed, as it is at the time now, as to the amount and whether or not the clock in order next year, and the value of each half day.

S. CLIFFORD, Commissioner

BANGOR DAILY NEWS AND COURIER

BY BOUTELLE BROTHERS.

[ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.]

BANGOR, MAINE, MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1896.

Price Three Cents.

VOL. LXIII.—NO. 148

10 CENT CIGARS

—FOR—

5 CENTS.

ed All Havana Tobacco,

Fresh Flavor, and Light Colors,

Tell Them.

A WHITE

smokers' Notice.

June 15, A.D. 1896.

The above have been duly approved by the Comptroller of the MASSEY, Int. of Boston.

steeped, whose estate has been settled, and given full notice of the same to the Judge of Probate, and given full notice to the Clerk of Probate, and

WHIG and COURIER

BY BOUTELLE BROTHERS.

All business letters about to be addressed to Boutelle Brothers should be addressed to "Editor of Whig and Courier."

MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1896.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

For President: William McKinley, of Ohio.

For Vice President: Garrett A. Hobart, of New Jersey.

For Governor: LLEWELLYN POWERS, of Moulton.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

For Electors: JOHN WILBUR, of Ayer; JOHN DIXON, EDWIN CAREY, of Boston; JOHN H. NICHOLSON, of Lowell; FRED ATTWOOD, of Worcester; THOMAS H. SAWYER, of Fall River.

FOR CONGRESSMEN.

Second District—WILSON BINGHAM, Jr., of Lowell; Fourth District—CHARLES A. BOUTELLE, of Lowell.

County Commissions.

Senators: ALFRED T. DAY, of Lowell; County Attorney: RICHARD L. SMITH, of Lowell; Sheriff: CHARLES E. COOPER, of Lowell; County Treasurer: HENRY STUBBS, of Lowell; County Comptroller: LEWIS C. WHITNEY, of Lowell.

Proposed Silver Combination.

If anything more were needed to convince the people of the menace involved in the free silver campaign it could be found in the character of the combination now being formed in its favor. Senator Teller is an honest man, but when his views on questions of public welfare find endorsement in the Populist party, which is to-day advocating him as a Presidential candidate, the combination forms a most instructive object lesson. When a sober thinking people see Alford, the Anarchist Governor of Illinois, putting himself forward as one of the leading champions of this cause, they will decline to follow such leadership. When in addition to these facts it is apparent that an effort will be made to pit in this coalition the majority of the Democratic party which has brought the country to the verge of bankruptcy, crippled our industries and curtailed the earning capacity of the laboring classes, it is not difficult to predict the result of the coming election.

Even the silver Senators who bolted the Republican convention admit that they can do nothing without fusion with the Democratic party, and that fusion, according to Senator Doherty, must include the nomination of Teller by the Democrats. It will thus be seen that the silver party of itself claims no particular strength, and the proposed fusion will simply mean a fight along the old lines, with the difference that the bold, business men in the Democratic party will find their only safety in joining with the Republicans in support of the principles of sound government.

The People's Ticket.

(Boston Advertiser.)

"Old Friends," veteran newspaper men, and statesmen whose heads are whitened with the frosts of years, journalists and politicians who remembered all the national conventions of the Republican party, and those of the Democratic party for a half a hundred years, were saying yesterday and the night before that never within their knowledge had there been on a like occasion anything quite equal to the enthusiasm for McKinley at St. Louis. Why? The answer is not far to seek nor long to tell. The crowd was shouting for a great leader of a great cause; a leader known, trusted, honored, loved, whose pure fame had been growing all the time during a score of years; a cause whose assured triumph under that leader the American people forced close at hand deliverance from undignified public calamities.

The people have won at St. Louis. William McKinley has been acclaimed for President of the United States because to the popular reason and imagination he represents more completely than any other citizen the great Republican policy which made and kept the country prosperous. Protection of America's industry was amply justified by the operation of the laws in which it was embodied, but the stupendous losses which have resulted from the victory of a party pledged to destroy it were seemingly necessary to establish an overwhelming and permanent conviction of the truth. The leaders of that majority of voters which will answer to the name of the Democratic party have coined and employed the word, McKinley, to designate the movement which has nominated the Republican candidate for President. We cheerfully accept as an accurate definition the term which they foolishly chose, a "lame duck." It is McKinley which was triumphant at St. Louis yesterday, and which will be triumphant at the polls in November.

(Philadelphia Press.)

The Republican National Convention at St. Louis has deserved well of the country.

It has nominated McKinley—the people's choice. It has added a good Vice-President in Hon. Garret Hobart, of New Jersey. It has made no soldiers blunder which can injure the great cause of protection or impede its triumph. It has voted eight to one for the existing gold standard. It had no quarrel and no factions differences. It had the resolution to face a bold, with courage and the good manners to hear bolters with pleasure.

Republican triumph has grown more certain with every hour this convention sat. It has induced saving victory for McKinley and Hobart, protection and honest money. In November.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The St. Louis convention has as safely in all its respects. It has named the "man the mass of the people wanted, and it has adopted a platform which makes his election certain. The voters in November will ratify what the cowards did by a record.

It is the beginning of a new era, the editor of the Standard, in his address to the members of the convention, said:

"The nomination of Mr. William McKinley, of Ohio, does not mean victory for the people, it means victory for the masses of the people."

He voted the Democratic ticket in 1892, and he has now turned his back upon it.

He has now turned his back upon it.

Mumps
Muscles Mechanics

Information of the paroxysms below the ears, called mumps, soreness of the muscles, burns, brushticks, chills, cracked soles, sore lips, lungs, throat, summer complaint, are due to the action of the body and cured by this wonderful muscle nerve.

It is the convulsive which manages to cover that is physically honest, fearless and sincere, and that the people's affairs will be safe in his hands.

(Hartford Post.)

Why should the people want McKinley? They want him to do the favoritism now closed or running on short time shall be opened and busy from week end to week end. They want him to stand that wages, which in many cases have had to be reduced to the level of Europe; in a hopeless competition with alien labor may be increased in a living reparation. They want him to do the goods to cover the people of this country may be made here and not swell the profits of the Englishmen, the Frenchman and the German. They want him to stay the tide of the new evil threatening the country—a Democratic silver monometallism.

Proposed Silver Combination.

If anything more were needed to convince the people of the menace involved in the free silver campaign it could be found in the character of the combination now being formed in its favor.

Senator Teller is an honest man, but when his views on questions of public welfare find endorsement in the Populist party, which is to-day advocating him as a Presidential candidate, the combination forms a most instructive object lesson.

When a sober thinking people see Alford, the Anarchist Governor of Illinois, putting himself forward as one of the leading champions of this cause, they will decline to follow such leadership.

When in addition to these facts it is apparent that an effort will be made to pit in this coalition the majority of the Democratic party which has brought the country to the verge of bankruptcy, crippled our industries and curtailed the earning capacity of the laboring classes, it is not difficult to predict the result of the coming election.

Even the silver Senators who bolted the Republican convention admit that they can do nothing without fusion with the Democratic party, and that fusion, according to Senator Doherty, must include the nomination of Teller by the Democrats.

It will thus be seen that the silver party of itself claims no particular strength, and the proposed fusion will simply mean a fight along the old lines, with the difference that the bold, business men in the Democratic party will find their only safety in joining with the Republicans in support of the principles of sound government.

The People's Ticket.

(Boston Advertiser.)

"Old Friends," veteran newspaper men, and statesmen whose heads are whitened with the frosts of years, journalists and politicians who remembered all the national conventions of the Republican party, and those of the Democratic party for a half a hundred years, were saying yesterday and the night before that never within their knowledge had there been on a like occasion anything quite equal to the enthusiasm for McKinley at St. Louis. Why?

The answer is not far to seek nor long to tell. The crowd was shouting for a great leader of a great cause; a leader known, trusted, honored, loved, whose pure fame had been growing all the time during a score of years; a cause whose assured triumph under that leader the American people forced close at hand deliverance from undignified public calamities.

The people have won at St. Louis. William McKinley has been acclaimed for President of the United States because to the popular reason and imagination he represents more completely than any other citizen the great Republican policy which made and kept the country prosperous. Protection of America's industry was amply justified by the operation of the laws in which it was embodied, but the stupendous losses which have resulted from the victory of a party pledged to destroy it were seemingly necessary to establish an overwhelming and permanent conviction of the truth. The leaders of that majority of voters which will answer to the name of the Democratic party have coined and employed the word, McKinley, to designate the movement which has nominated the Republican candidate for President. We cheerfully accept as an accurate definition the term which they foolishly chose, a "lame duck."

It is McKinley which was triumphant at St. Louis yesterday, and which will be triumphant at the polls in November.

(Philadelphia Press.)

The Republican National Convention at St. Louis has deserved well of the country.

It has nominated McKinley—the people's choice. It has added a good Vice-President in Hon. Garret Hobart, of New Jersey. It has made no soldiers blunder which can injure the great cause of protection or impede its triumph. It has voted eight to one for the existing gold standard. It had no quarrel and no factions differences. It had the resolution to face a bold, with courage and the good manners to hear bolters with pleasure.

Republican triumph has grown more certain with every hour this convention sat. It has induced saving victory for McKinley and Hobart, protection and honest money. In November.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The St. Louis convention has as safely in all its respects. It has named the "man the mass of the people wanted, and it has adopted a platform which makes his election certain. The voters in November will ratify what the cowards did by a record.

It is the beginning of a new era, the editor of the Standard, in his address to the members of the convention, said:

"The nomination of Mr. William McKinley, of Ohio, does not mean victory for the people, it means victory for the masses of the people."

He voted the Democratic ticket in 1892, and he has now turned his back upon it.

CO. SONS' ORIGINATED
1810.
ANODYNE
MED

The Universal Household Remedy from infancy to old age. Trust what we have learned, and drop on sugar suffering children love it.

I cheerfully endorse Johnson's Liniment and have found it valuable for muscular soreness. On W. J. CASEY, Trimont Athletic Club.

The Doctor's signature and directions on every bottle.

Price 50c. Postage 10c.

12 BROAD ST.
NEW YORK.

AND CAN HAVE IT.

FOR A SUNDAY DINNER

You Can Get Most Anything at

FICKETT'S MARKET,

Telephone 115-2.
mech?

CARD.

133 S. M.

Office and Residence, 293 French St.

may

Safety Razors. W. P. Dickey & Co

Established in 1834.

BY

PER & H. T.,

17 STATE ST., BANGOR, ME.

Telephone 125-2. Correspondence solicited

The demand for houses and lots is very brisk. If you have any property to sell call on us at once.

A GREAT BOOK FREE.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., published the "Universal Medical Adviser," he announced that he would give a copy of this book to any person who would pay him one dollar for the profit on it.

As soon as health is restored they may be discharged without a return of illness.

They assist nature with the best results.

There is a rarely perceptible laxative.

One is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Two is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Three is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Four is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Five is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Six is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Seven is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Eight is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Nine is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Ten is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Eleven is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twelve is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirteen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Fourteen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Fifteen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Sixteen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Seventeen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Eighteen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Nineteen is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-one is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-two is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-three is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-four is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-five is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-six is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-seven is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-eight is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Twenty-nine is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-one is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-two is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-three is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-four is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-five is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-six is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-seven is a rarely perceptible laxative.

Thirty-eight is a rarely perceptible laxative

The Connecticut Mutual LIFE INSURANCE CO.

Years ago Dr James Christie, a leading physician in St John, N.B., was a student at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. While taking a walk about the Quaker City, his attention was arrested by the voice of an auctioneer. The laws of the State at that time allowed no one to sell goods to be sold at auction unless the proceeds of the sale were used to pay the debts of a deceased husband. The widow forcibly expressed her mind in regard to the proceedings, yet the auctioneer continued his sale.

At last he put up the cradle in which the baby lay sleeping and called for bids. The mother asked the crowd not to buy but it was sold. Then she took the child from the cradle and held it up, showing its pocket book with a paper which said "Hold off, exclaiming in a voice of triumph" You have sold the stove, cradle and all but here is a $1000 Life Policy which you cannot sell or touch." The scene left an impression upon the Doctor, and he was the first to insure for $1000 in The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co.

J. H. FAIRBANKS, General Agent, Bangor, Me.

See Statement of Dr. CHRISTIE'S POLICY.

RESULT OF MATRED ENDOWMENT.

Amount of policy	Amount paid in	Interest	Amount of premium	Amount of cash value	Amount of cash value
$100,000	$100,000	$100,000	$100,000	$100,000	$100,000
Less Dividends
Gains on $100,000
Gains on $100,000

Amount of policy $100,000

Amount paid in $100,000

Interest $100,000

Amount of premium $100,000

Amount of cash value $100,000